

Phishing

A "Phishing" alert is a critical notification generated by security systems when they detect a phishing attempt aimed at deceiving users into disclosing sensitive information such as login credentials, credit card numbers, or other personal data..

