

Impossible travel

An "impossible travel" alert is a notification generated by a security system when it detects connections from geographically distant locations within a time frame that is too short for physical travel to be possible.

